

Apprenticeships

What are Apprenticeships?

As employees, Apprentices earn a wage and work alongside experienced staff to gain job-specific skills. Off-the-job, usually on a day-release basis, Apprentices receive training at college to work towards nationally recognised qualifications.

Apprenticeships are designed with the help of the employers in the industry so they offer a structured programme that takes you through the skills you need to do a job well. Providing a head start in building a career, they are an attractive option for increasing numbers of people.

Employer Services Team

The college's Employer Services Team promotes Apprenticeships to employers and encourages them to adopt Apprenticeship programmes to train new and existing staff.

Apprenticeship Recruitment Service

The college also supports people to access vacancies for Apprentices. Its Apprenticeship Recruitment Service supports those interested in becoming Apprentices and provides their details to employers with appropriate vacancies. It assists them through the interview process and with progression into employment.

It's a fantastic place to work and I've always been interested in football but I'm now getting to see so much more of what goes on behind the scenes at a club. From the outset on the media side I've been in the press box on match-days, helped out with press packs, conducted interviews and worked on the blog as well as other general duties. The marketing side of things is slightly different where I'm involved in things like the distribution of all our marketing materials, leaflets and posters and I'm starting work on the organisation of a fun day at the club for local people and kids to come along too. It's quite a varied role and one I'm really, really pleased with.
